Printed by The Interstate Printers and Publishers, Inc., 19-27 North Jackson Street, Danville, Illinois.

THE AMERICAN SPEECH AND HEARING ASSOCIATION

The American Speech and Hearing Association is a professional and learned association with a current membership of 1432. Begun originally as the Society for the Study of the Disorders of Speech, the organization became the American Speech Correction Association in 1934, and assumed its present name in 1947. Formal annual conventions have been held since 1925, and membership records have been kept since 1926.

The Association publishes The Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders, a quarterly which was issued first in 1936 as The Journal of Speech Disorders, and appeared under that title through Volume 12 for 1947.

Qualifications for membership are set up by the members. All individuals listed in this Directory have been investigated by the Council of the Association in regard to these qualifications and have agreed to follow the principles of ethics found in the Constitution and By-laws of the Association as revised in 1943.

Associate Members (816). Associate Members are persons qualified on an ethical basis who have not, however, completed a professional education in the field of speech correction (and are therefore not recommended as qualified by the Association to do speech corrective work beyond the apprentice level). Dues are $3.50 per year.

Clinical Members (389). Clinical Members are persons with a B.A. degree and one year of experience, who have completed a minimum of special preparation to the extent of 18 semester hours in the field and 12 hours in allied subjects, and who are qualified to act as clinical technicians under the guidance of more completely trained individuals. Dues are $5.00 per year.

Professional Members (126). Professional Members are individuals with four years of postgraduate experience and with relatively complete professional training in the field, and possessing at least an M.A. degree. They are recommended by the Association as being qualified to diagnose and examine cases of speech defects, supervise others in the correction of defects, and to teach others in the arts and skills of speech correction. They are, in short, fully qualified persons upon whom reliance can be placed in the correction of speech disorders. Dues are $12.50 per year.

Fellows (101). Fellows are individuals who have completed professional education in the field, meet all the qualifications of Professional Membership, and in addition have made significant and worthy contributions to the field in the way of research publications. The Association honors such individuals by electing them to Fellowship within the Association. The Association elevates to Honorary Fellowship individuals whose major training has been in an allied field but who have also made significant and worthy contributions to the field of speech correction. Dues are $12.50 per year.

Complete details on application for membership in the Association may be obtained by writing to Secretary-Treasurer George A. Kopp, Department of Speech, Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan.
